CHARLES BOTHA WILL NOT BE SHOT FOR MURDER City and Neighborhood RETURNS TO ZION

LIFE SPARED BY OFFICIALS

Will Spend His Days in Prison.

Long Struggle of Attorneys and Friends Ends In Victory.

Man Who Killed His Wife and Her Lover Was Near to the Day of Execution.

TO LEADEN bullets will plough their way into the heart of Charles Botha next Friday morning. The five men in whose power it lay to extinguish the mysterious spark of life and turn the pulsing body into senseless clay said, 'Live!" The death watch was removed and the dark shadow of death was dispelled. "Dutch" Charlie has entered upon that ceaseless round of rising, working, eating and sleeping within the four walls of the penitentiary which must continue until his life ends or the pardoning board exercises further clemency in his case.

"Warner, you can take your man," said Attorney-General Breeden as he came from the room where the board had been in executive session for one hour and forty-five minutes.

This was the first intimation given to the public that the sentence of death imposed on Charles Botha for the murder of William Tibbetts to San Juan county had been commuted to life imprisonment. M. M. Warner, the attorney who had been pleading with the board for Botha's life, arose from his chair and took Maj. Breeden's band. He was so overcome that he could not be was so overcome that he could not be sure of his voice at first, but when he gained control of himself he thanked the bearer of the good tidings.

Other members of the board came from the room. The solemnity of their faces bore evidence to the serious consideration which they had given to this question of life and death. Mr. Warner, his eyes brimming with tears, thanked each member personally. The moment was too solemn for conversation, and few words were spoken.

Sent Wood to Bothe.

Sent Word to Botha.

Warden Arthur Pratt stepped to the telephone in the private office of the clerk of the Supreme court and sent to the penitentiary the words which were to relieve Botha of his suspense. The others left the chamber and started to their homes for lunch, as it was now

The special session of the Pardon board began at 10 o'clock. The members, Gov. Wells, Attorney-General Breeden, Chief Justice Baskin, Justice Bartch and Justice McCarthy were all present. The petitioner was represented by Judge M. M. Warner of Provo, who said that he had been mable to reconstitute the second said that he had been mable to reconstitute. said that he had been unable to pro-cure the affidavite which he had in-tended to present to the board. By these affidavits he expected to prove that Tibbetts had been warned to "leave the Dutchman's wife alone," long before the tragedy.

am satisfied," sald Judge Warner 'that if this board could compel those men to appear before it and testify in these matters it could be shown be yond any question that Tibbetts had been intimate with Botha's wife and violated the chastity of his home in such a manner as would arouse the frenzy of any reasonable man.

Motive for the Murder.

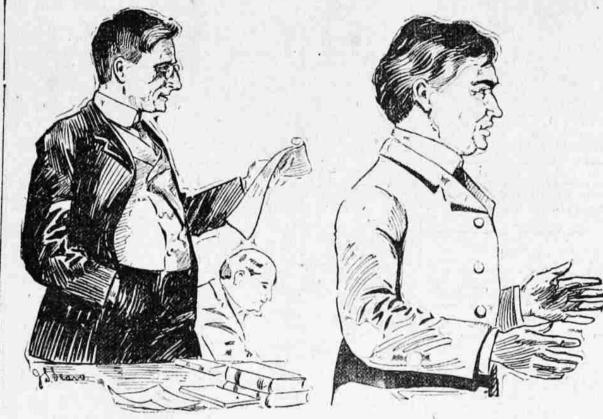

"In this case there can be no question as to the motive which prompted Botha to do this act. He had no other motive than to protect his home and his wife's chastity. His wife had been taken from him. He found her in Tib-betts's home there in the mountains and when Botha went there he demanded of Tibbetts why he had stole his wife and to explain himself. There can be no doubt from that demand but that Botha did believe that Tibbetts had stolen his wife from him and had vicetroyed his home and its chastity. The next morning after the shooting Botha told Mr. Pitts that the killing of his wife was an accident, so that such a statement was not an after-It has never occurred in hu man history that a man under such circumstances would kill his wife first and then kill the destroyer of his home It is natural that a man would kill the paramour first. The fact that the shooting occurred as it did, that the wife was killed first, is strong proof that the killing of the wife was acci-

Claims Trial Was Unfair.

"I believe that if Tibbetis had done what Botha did the feeling is such down there that there would only have been a Coroner's verdict of justifiable homicide and the case would have ended. There is no doubt but that Botha did not have a fair trial. His attorney, Mr. Wanless, only had a few minutes bewantess, only had a few minutes before the trial to consult with the defendant and did not have time to prepare for trial. The attorney asked for a continuance, but it was denied by the court. I am satisfied that if the case had been properly prepared the verdict would have been nothing more than voluntary manslaughter. As to than voluntary manslaughter Botha's crimes in Germany, I have two letters from his mother in which she says that she is coming here with the necessary evidence to show that he was never charged with the crime of murder there."

Told of the Other Side.

In reply to the argument of Judge Warner District Attorney Livingston, who prosecuted at Botha's trial, said that the defendant had been fairly that the defendant had been fairly tried and convicted, all the evidence going to show that he had committed the murder deliberately and in cold blood. Boths, said Mr. Livingston, boasted of the crime, telling a neighbor that he had done a good job and could do it again if he had to, and said that he shot the woman first and sent them to heaven together.

The crime of which Botha was found guilty aroused a great deal of feeling in San Juan county, where Tibbetts was generally respected and Botha was considered an idle and worthless character. The two men lived on neighboring ranches. Botha married a 15-year-old girl and took her. old girl and took her to his little one-room cabin. He went away from home, leaving his child-wife without food or fuel. She applied to Tibbetts for help and he took her into his house. When Botha returned he found his wife at the Tibbetts canch and whot her killing Tibbetts ranch and shot her, killing Tibbetts afterward.

EXECUTION ISSUED FOR LARGE SUM

For a short time yesterday afternoon an execution for $19,400 was out against the goods and chattels of O. J. Salisbury When a deputy shoriff was about to start in search of something worth $19,000 or more Mr. Salisbury's agent, C. B. Felt, telephoned that a check for the amount was on the way.

The check was given to satisfy a judgment in favor of Kate Guthiel, awarded by the District court and once affirmed by the Supreme bench. The petition for a rehearing was denied May 27. Then another claimant for the money, Then another claimant for the money, which is due on a mining contract, turned up and demanded a share in the judgment. Fending the adjustment of this claim Mr. Salisbury's agent inclused to pay over the cash. Yesterday afterneon Frick, Truman & Sullivan, Mrs. Guthlel's afterneys, filed a bond to indemnify the new claimant and immediately secured the writ of execution, which was placed in the hands of Sheriff Emery, with orders to serve at once. POLITICAL GOSSIP.

UDGE O. W. POWERS'S entrance | Peery's candidacy for National Commitinto the contest for election as the Utah member of the Democratte National committee was the one political item most talked about Satur-

All along it has been believed the Judge would be one of the big six that will go to the St. Louis convention. It was conceded that he could go there as the leader of the delegation if he but say the world, but Judge Powers did not care for such a distinction, his riends say, He was freely mentioned as the Dem ocratic candidate for Congress, but this he has done little more than flirt with. Judge Powers's determination to be Judge Powers's determination to become a candidate for National Committeeman was a distinct surprise. The three other leading candidates are Dave Evans, D. H. Peery and A. H. Tarbet. It was said the choice lay between Evans and Peery, with chances favoring Evans. But Powers's entrance into the race has compelled the slate makers to wipe out old scores and make new calculations. These calculations new calculations. These calculations take in the name of the affable Judge in almost every instance, it is said.

It is further claimed that the convention, and not the National delegates, will be called on to make the selection of a National Committeeman. In this of a National Committeeman. In this event, many leading Democrats say, Judge Powers will be an easy winner. His wide acquaintanceship with National party characters who will have to do with the campaign, recommends him to the better politicians, as a more befitting Committeeman than either of the other candidates. the other candidates

"He knows the leaders and they know him. He would at once take rank with his party men. Utah would be a part of the committee if Judge Powers has a membership there. So much could not be said of other candidates, though they are wide awake men."

Another Democrat said. "Powers should be elected by all means. He would have influence with the leaders and Utah Democracy would profit by the selection."

Judge W. H. King may not become a candidate for the Democratic nomina-tion for Governor, but some of his friends say that if he does not he will exhibit a marvelous self-restraint.

A local Hearst supporter does not take much stock in Parker's claim that he supported Mr. Bryan. He said yes-terday: "Judge Parker may have been for Bryan, but there is no one who say he went around telling anybody about it at the time."

Saturday it was reported that two Hearst men were seen preparing bal-lots containing six names to be distrib-uted in next week's State convention. A contest is now predicted by some.

Among the Utah Democrats who are active or receptive candidates for dele-gate to the National convention are Moses Thatcher, Hyrum Hayball, Joseph Monson and Frank Nebeker of Logan, Frank J. Cannon and Judge W. gan, Frank J. Cannon and Same of Maginnis of Ogden, Sam King of Maginnis of Nephi, L. Maginnis of Ogden, Sam King of Provo, George Whittemore of Nephi, John R. R. W. Watt's candidacy for Auditor of State has taken root in Davis coun-ty. A Republican from there said the Mercur postmaster had planted some seed in that corner of Utah that would develop considerable of a following.

It is denied that a truce had been declared in the political enmity between Judge King and D. H. Peery, as recently announced. The former Congressman has a hatchet ready for teeman, and has already exhibited it.

"There will be no instructions next cek," declared a Salt Lake Democrat, iscussing the State convention. "It is discussing the State convention. "It is more than probable Hearst men will offer Instructions, but the convention will vote them down."

Much is said of Mayor William Glasmann's candidacy for the United States Senate, and there is a disposition among the majority of the politicians to look on the announcement as a joke. Others, however, say that "Mayor Bill" is a "dead sure" candidate and will turn up several votes.

"There will be at least four candidates for Governor before the Republican convention," declared a politician who is a member of the State committee, "and one of them will be Heber M. Wells. I have it direct that the Governor will enter his name again and will be a leading candidate, but not a successful one this time."

Of the many Democrats that are candidates for National delegate, more opposition is reported to have developed against former Senator Joseph L. Rawlins than any other, but the politicians all put him on the successful slate.

Whether a delegate or not, Judge W. H. King will go to St. Louis to watch the proceedings of the Democratic Na-tional convention. It is admitted the Judge can be elected a delegate, but he is quoted as saying he will not permit his name to be used because his brother Sam desires to go and he will not let it be said the King family wants to be

DEV. JESSE P. SEARLES of Wis consin, who, as one of the originat California gold hunters, celebrated July 4, 1849, in Salt Lake City, having then been on his way to the Eldorado, is now paying his second visit to the City of the Saints. He is on the way home from the Methodist conference in Los Angeles. The Rev. Searles is a well preserved gentleman

2 years old, and he retains a good stock of reminiscenses of his overland trip across the great West before civilization had wrought the many changes which had wrought the many changes which he now observes.

"We left Racine, Wis., on March 5, 1849" said Mr. Searles when seen at the Wilson yesterday, "and our party, numbering sixty-three persons, reached the barren country where Omaha now stands, on March 11. Only 150 miles west of that place, which was the real starting point across the wilderness, one of our party was killed by Indians, and our cattle were run off by the savages. We captured their chief, however, and held him until the stock was returned.

"We arrived in Salt Lake just in time to witness the celebration here of the Fourth of July. I remember meeting Brigham Young, Orson Pratt and Heber Kimball, all of whom made speeches on the occasion. Brigham Young impressed me very favorably, as did Orson Pratt, who was a very eloquent speaker, but I had quite a beated discussion with Kimball over some remarks made by him in regard to the United States Government, which I considered incondiary. "We arrived in Salt Lake just in time

United States Government, which I considered incendiary.
"Our party sold a large quantity of goods to the Mormon leaders, and we were invited by Young, Kimbail and others to remain here, Kimbail having declared that there were just as good mines here as in California—a remark which seems prophetic in the light of your present mining interests. We pushed on, however, arriving at the Yuba river in September, where I was engaged in placer mining for a year and a half, returning to the States' in 1851."
Rev. Searles has been in the ministry since that time, and is now filling his forty-seventh annual appointment as a pastor of the Methodist church. This is pastor of the Methodist church. This is his lirst trip over the old trail since the memorable journey by wagon so many years ago, and he views the transpormation with wonder. The Union Pacific railroad follows almost exactly the same route traveled by him then.
